SYNOPSIS

Poems that, through intertextuality, dialogue with other poems by authors from the literary canon. The poems selected for "I Am Fed Up with Restrained Lyricism" carry philosophical, lyrical, and social depth. Shaped by literary and musical influences, this poetry emerges grounded in the world, addressing existential questions. The author draws on devices such as metaphors, irony, and free verse to express impressions and feelings across varied contexts.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Author of the poetry collection “Libertos pela Poesia” (TAUP, 2022), which was awarded at the 1st Libri Literature Prize organized by the Academia Interamericana de Escritores (AINTE) in 2024, Ruan Vieira is also the author of “Amor à flor da Pele” and “Lucinda: Eterna mulher que amei” (Frutificando, 2023). Born in Aracaju, Sergipe, the university student began writing as a boy and developed a passion for literature through books and music. He has contributed to literary contests, poetry anthologies, and literary magazines.
