SYNOPSIS

"Holographic Palimpsests or Poems to Read on the Toilet", by Edwardo Souza, is a collection of short poems that takes readers on a journey through surreal landscapes and existential themes. Souza's poetry is characterized by its fragmented nature, juxtapositions of unusual imagery, and use of synthetic language to create a tapestry of experiences ranging from the beautiful to the grotesque. Throughout the work, he explores themes of nature, urban decay, and the multifaceted nature of reality.

Through wordplay, recurring themes, and a dreamlike atmosphere, the images connect, inviting readers into a universe of neologisms and psychedelic poetry on the interaction between emptiness & forms.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Edwardo Souza was born in Manaus in 1996. He is a physician, poet, and amateur photographer.
