ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Camilo de Paula Ribeiro Fernandes is an ordinary guy.

Born a twin on the 18th, on a cold winter afternoon in July 1978.

With the Mantiqueira mountains and their peculiar wind as his cradle and lullaby, he hails from Minas Gerais, a native of Paraisópolis, twin to Conceição dos Ouros, adjoining Consolação, beside Gonçalves and São Bento, the Costas, its district, neighboring Brasópolis.

Son of Fernandes and Agripina, for more than two decades, in São José dos Campos, state of São Paulo, it is in these parts that he herds his own destiny. (and furthermore, having been opportune, he keeps close to his chest longing and respect for the friendly people of China)

Father of Raul, the youngest, still an infant, preceded by Giulia, Isabela, Isabelle, and Beatriz, children of the same (paternal) nest.

Recently widowed, married to Leidiane Xavier Fernandes, he carries in his core this latent pain for this life partner, a Strong Woman, Devoted Mother, of strong personality, decisive, who is sorely missed, reaffirming her: “Present!”.

A business administrator by training, with post-graduate studies in People and Public Management.

He has made no great discovery, nor played any relevant role in any matter; he is no heir to a doctor, politician, astronaut, celebrity, or captain.

He insists! He is an ordinary guy. He knows he is unique, a universe, but consciously chooses, silent before the matters of life, especially in the face of human finitude, to be just one more.
