SYNOPSIS

A Cup of Plants (is a passage to the sun) maintains the intimate tone of Julia's earlier poetry (in Árias a Interioridade), but with greater depth regarding certain themes: family, writing, the city, the sea. Here, the cup is an instrument of observation and dwelling: what home do we inhabit? What body allows us to spill over until reaching the other? Alternating between distinct poetic forms—from haiku to prose poetry—Julia delves into an autobiographical and essayistic universe.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Julia Pantin seeks to capture moments in their own multiangularities. Born in São Paulo, she studied economics at Unicamp, where, interested in questions of temporality and the structuring of speech, she also studied literature and philosophy. In 2021, she participated in the CLIPE (Curso Livre de Preparação do Escritor) at Casa das Rosas and published her first book of original haiku and watercolors through Fábrica de Cânones. Árias À Interioridade is her second poetic and publishing project.
